AS the scheme of a lottery in the town of Paris and county of Bourbon, for raising the sum of 2500 dollars for opening the navigation of the fourth fork of Licking river, published in the Kentucky Gazette; would subject the Managers to be accountable for one third of the tickets which might be in their hands at the commencement of the drawing agreeable to the scheme published—The Managers have therefore resolved, that the drawing of said lottery shall not commence until the whole of the tickets can be disposed of.

By order of the Board,
AMOS EDWARDS, C. B. Bourbon, August 6, 1796.

BE known, that we the subscribers, did on the fourth day of July, 1796, voluntarily come and acknowledge before God and the world, that we never knew any thing of Charles Quirey, but that of an honest man, and the story that we circulated and reported against him we acknowledge to be a LIE and notorious falsehood. Given under our hands and seals the day above written.

Lexington, August 11, 1796.

NOTICE.

HAT I shall attend the commissioners appointed by the county court of Clarke, the fifth day of September next, at the beginning of an entry of five hundred acres of land in my name and entered May 10, 1780, on Stoner's fork of Licking, at a lick known by the name of Bramble's lick now, but then called the Red lick, on Gill's creek, then and there to perpetuate the testimony of certain witnesses, and do such other acts as they shall think proper, according to law.

JOHN HALLEY.

August 9, 1796.

NOTICE.

WHEREAS John Marshall, jun. on the 17th day of June 1790, made an entry of five thousand acres, to begin half a mile well of a large hickory which stands about one pole well of a spring emptying into the north fork of Licking, running thence S 23° E 14 1/2 poles, thence E. at right angles for quantity. And whereas a survey has since been made on said entry, and patent filed thereon in the name of Thomas Marshall, as assignee of the said John Marshall, and whereas the proof of the said hickory tree which is now falling, depends on the testimony of persons now alive; this is therefore to notify all whom it may concern that I shall on Monday the third of October next, attend by my agent at the spot where the said hickory once stood, with the commissioners and sundry witnesses, & then and there perpetuate the spot where the said tree stood, and do such other and further things in the premises as may be deemed necessary and authorized by the law in this case made and provided.

THO. MARSHALL.

WHEREAS FORREST WELLS on the 30th day of June 1780, entered 320 acres upon a treasury warrant on a branch of a creek running into Licking, known by the name of Flat creek, including a cabin and improvement; at a spring about twelve miles north a town east course from the upper blue licks, on the east side of said branch and upon both sides thereof for quantity. And whereas William Wells on the 29th day of June 1780 entered 1430 acres upon a treasury warrant on the waters of Flat creek, adjoining the before mentioned entry on the south side to include sundry cabins built by Thomas Clark and co. and afterwards in February 1785 surveyed the same in two surveys. Being desirous to perpetuate testimony to establish the claim in said entry and surveys, has obtained an order from Clarke court appointing commissioners to meet pursuant to an act of assembly entitled "An act to ascertain the boundaries of land and for other purposes." Notice is hereby given that the said commissioners will meet at the house of Capt. John Downing in the county of Clarke, adjacent to the said lands on the fifteenth day of September next for the purpose aforesaid, and such others as the said act points out and justifies; and thence proceed to the places specially called for in the said entries & surveys, and examine sundry witnesses that will be then introduced.

WM. WELLS.

August 9, 1796.

N. B. The commissioners to continue to attend the witness is done.

NOTICE.

THAT I shall attend the commissioners appointed by the court of Clarke, the fifteenth day of September next at the beginning of an entry in my name for three thousand and fifty acres of land on Flat creek near Thomas Bowen's which entry calls to begin four hundred poles north, eighty-five east of a corner tree marked for James W. Haley, which corner tree stands about a quarter of a mile well of Bowen's field—then and there to perpetuate the testimony of certain witnesses, and do such other acts as they shall think proper according to law.

JOHN WILKINSON.

The commissioners will sit from day to day until the business is finished.
August 9, 1796.

PUBLIC Notice is hereby given to all whom it may concern, that on Friday the 16th of August next, I shall attend on the premises of an entry and survey of one thousand acres made in my own name (near Paris) with the commissioners appointed by the court of Bourbon, under an act of assembly for such purposes made and provided, and then and there to take the depositions of certain witnesses to perpetuate testimony relative to the beginning and boundaries of my said survey, and do such other acts and things as may be deemed requisite.

JOHN LAYSON.

BLANK DEEDS

PARIS, May 8.

ARMY OF ITALY.

A letter from Gen. Buonaparte, of the 17th Floreal, addressed to the Executive Directory, mentioning that the army of Italy had taken possession of the town of Tortona, in which they found a very fine fortress, which cost the king of Sardinia more than fifteen millions. We have found therein 100 pieces of brass cannon, and valuations for 3000 men.

He adds, that the day after the suspension of arms, the army was put in movement. Scarcely has evacuated all his positions and has passed the Po at Valence, with all his troops.

Upon the invitation of the king of Sardinia, the Neapolitans have fortified Valence to a Piedmontese garrison.

The convention of Holland, (Dantia) has formally declared war against Great Britain.

Dronet, who has been arrested as the leader in the last Paris insurrection, is the same person who stopped Louis XVI, when on his flight from Paris to Mont Medis.

LONDON, May 11.

A report prevailed yesterday in the fashionable circles, that the king of Prussia had made an irruption into Holland. What foundation there is for such a report we cannot pretend to say; we only know that nothing which his Prussian majesty can do, however extraordinary or unexpected, can possibly create alarm in our minds.

BOSTON, July 12.

From Lisbon.

Schooner Catharine, Cor. in 45 days. Reports were confidently circulated, that Spain and England had commenced war against each other, and the reports appeared to be credited by two Spanish frigates there which immediately sailed for Spain.

From France.

Capt. Tibbitts. His verbal information is, that hostilities had commenced on the Rhine, by a victory decisively favorable to the French; and in which 10,000 men were killed. This victory was soon after followed by another, of almost equal brilliancy, and ending in the death of 8000 men.

Letters from Paris, rate flour in that city at five dollars per barrel. Letters also state, that it was hoped through the intervention of Mr. Monroe, that the decree of the government ordering foreigners to quit Paris, would be annulled, so as to allow Americans to continue in that city—at present they are removed.

The verbal information by the arrival from France mentions, that the campaign on the Rhine had opened so less successful to the French, than in Italy.—That two engagements had taken place, in which many thousands fell.—We have seen no printed or written account of these battles; but the last papers stated that the armies on both sides the Rhine, were in continual movement, and practicing various manœuvres to conceal from each other the real operations contemplated. Such a body of hostile men could not long be neighbors without coming to blows.

SAVANNAH, June 28.

Arrived on Friday last, the French privateer Jean Creole, cap. Mitchell, from a cruise of three months, during which time, it is said, they have taken a number of valuable prizes, among which was a Spanish ship in the slave trade, and from a prisoner which they liberated in this place, we are informed they took from her $5,000 dollars in specie.

NEW-YORK, July 9.

Letters from Havre of May 19, and from Paris of May 11, by the arrival at Boston, state, that there were 20,000 barrels of flour stored in Havre, which could not be sold at 6 crowns the barrel, and that Rice was selling at Bordeaux at 14 livres tournois. The editor has also received letters from Paris by this arrival, extracts from which we forward. His correspondent says, "I think it not improbable, that the French northern and southern armies which are 400 miles asunder, will form a junction in the heart of Germany."

COMMUNICATION.

15 per cent. was yesterday offered as an inducement only against British piracy, the owner requiring the danger of seas and the French, which was refused. A pretty proof this, in what manner the friends to Britain depend on her faith and friendship to wards us. [Diary.]

July 15.

Extract of a letter to the Editor, via Boston, dated Paris, May 8, 1796.

"We have undoubted intelligence that the enemies of France, in Italy, have been reduced, within a month, 25,000.—The King of Sardinia has given up Alexandria and other ports, who permits the French to enter Turin at pleasure. He has sued for peace—no doubt honorable terms will be granted as usual by the French, who, I am confident, do not fight for territory, but to thwart the infamous confederation at Palnitz, and secure their own liberty."

Extract of a letter to the Editor, via Boston dated Paris April 25, 1796.

"Since I wrote to you the 23d inst. we have further advices, that our brave allies the French, pursued their success, and, within three days after, surrounded the Austrian camp, killed their chief commander, & 2000 that were under his command, on a level with him, and made 800 prisoners. The strong post of Cairo, &c. &c. with many flags, and an immense quantity of arms, were taken. Gen. Buonaparte, commanded the French. It is probable I may shortly have further important intelligence to communicate. I think it not improbable, that the French Northern and Southern armies, which are four hundred miles asunder, will form a junction in the very heart of Germany."

July 16.

By the arrival of the ship Three Friends, yesterday afternoon, 43 days from Amsterdam, we learn that the inhabitants of that city were placed in a disagreeable situation. There were a body of citizens to the number of 8 or 900, called cannoniers, of the lowest class in the society, who were allowed to wear fire arms.

They had lately assembled every night in gangs, and ranged about the city like madmen, in federal instigations committing murder. The municipality fully alarmed at these proceedings, gave orders on the 10th of May for them to assemble in front of the Stathouche, and surrender their arms. The cannoniers assembled on the day appointed, and the light horse, and the rest of the militia, were ordered to surround them in order to disarm them. The cannoniers however remained firm, determined to surrender only with their lives. With this disposition they remained from twelve o'clock at mid-day until twelve at night.

At about half past twelve at night, they entered the Stathouche and forcibly liberated three or four of their party, who had been condemned for murder: who were next day sent to parade the streets of the city unmolested. A body of French troops had been sent to keep the peace of the city.

July 19.

Yesterday arrived at the port, the ship Nancy, Drummond, in 66 days from Newry, in Ireland, having on board 450 passengers, in good health.—It is to be hoped, that those whose business it is, will not forget the melancholy fate which attended the emigrants who landed in this city about this season last year.

Also arrived yesterday, in 45 days from Bordeaux the ship Fame, Capt. Abel. Spoke-ship Eliza from Charleston June 3, within a days sail of Bordeaux.

As this vessel failed about the 15th June we expected to be able to announce some recent intelligence from the Republic of France, but no papers came by her.— This one important point is however established by this arrival viz. that Peace with Sardinia is definitively concluded, and that on terms exceedingly advantageous to the French Republic.

By the Minerva, Capt. Clarkson, from Amsterdam, via Halifax, we learn, that the ship Congress, Thomas Reed, master, from Amsterdam, bound for this port, was captured some time since by the Affiance, a British frigate, and carried into Halifax, where she and her cargo were libelled, condemned, and sold. Capt. Reed came in the Minerva, and brought this intelligence. The Congress belonging to J. K. Hoffman of this city.

July 20.

Extract of a letter from Cape Francis, dated 9 Mellicor June 27.

"The 5th of this month (23d June) a division or fleet (one division) making up the compliment with those that accompanied the Commodities, arrived at the port of the Cape. The news from France is good; the enemies are defeated on every field.

"The internal troubles of the colony are finally at an end, as it respects its alarms, the chiefs of the revolution are sent to France; Vile is of the number; and what is very happy for us is, that we have been obliged to spill no more blood. Pardon on one side, to those who lay down their arms, & a pardon on the other, to those who refused to do it on the other: there are measures which have happily succeeded.

"The English in turn will now feel the impotency of the Republican bayonets, which had been diverted from their true object by interior commotions. Our attention will now solely be fixed against the English, who have themselves come to awaken and unite us by attacking Fort Bombard, which, guarded by a small national corps, was obliged to surrender after four hours resistance. The attention of Gen. Bouffant was immediately drawn to this point, and precautions were taken to prevent this little advantage being of any consequence to the enemy, by cutting off all communication. On the 3d we attacked and took Fort Pleffis, which communicated with Fort Bombard and the Mole in which affair 102 English and impious emigrants who defended it, and refusing to surrender, were killed: we lost 30 men.

"The culture of the plantations of St. Domingo already recommence; and if the enemies to our present public affairs do not create new troubles every circumstance inspires new hopes of future prosperity.

"I forgot an anecdote which appeared singular to me: 15 of the English cavalry in a fort on the Mole, bound to Fort Bombard, fell in with one of our ambuscade not knowing the communication was cut off and seven of them were left dead on the field of battle; among whom was found a woman with a mulker on her shoulder."

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.

Authentic intelligence from St. Domingo.

CAPE, June 24.

Villate and his accomplices are embarked on board the Hyacinth, a ship of war, and sent to France, where they are to stand their trial.

Dispatches transmitted by Rome (a member of the Collegial commission) from Santo Domingo, and arrived at the Cape on the 22d June, announced the arrival of Richery's squadron, composed of 9 ships of the line, to frigates, four ships of war, and four armed transports with troops on board, and five millions in specie.

This squadron, has in its passage made 22 prizes, among which is an English frigate and a sloop of war.

The corps which marched under the order of Rochambeau, Pageot and Loufaint was composed of 300 troops of the line and 5000 Africans intended against Cape Nicholas-Mole; they have already rendered themselves masters of Pombard, where they furnished a corps of above 300 English in force, and made them prisoners; they pulled forwards, and attacked an advanced post near the Mole, supported by two pieces of artillery, which they took after having put to the sword the troops that guarded the post.

It is generally believed that the Cape Nicholas-Mole and the whole portion of St. Domingo possessed by the English, will fall into the hands of the Republicans, for the enemy in those quarters are completely at variance amongst themselves.

BALTIMORE, July 13.

Yesterday arrived the brig Harriot, capt. Atkinson, from Cape Francis, 15 days. Left there—Brig Fell's Point, Cowan, Schooner Silvers, Blays, and schooner Hetty and Sally, Wilton, all of Baltimore.

Capt. Atkinson informs, that a few days before he sailed, a fleet of 5 sail arrived from Brazil, commanded by citizen—, late of the Madusa, who was on board Le Vengeance, of 50 guns. Three of the squadron were armed à feu, and captured on their passage three British transports, and a Portuguese vessel, all of which they destroyed. They also took a Bermudian sloop from Turk's Island for her barbedoes, with dispatches. And finding her a runner, they manœuvred and sent her to the Cape; the unfortunately run on Aboula bank and was lost. The crew saved and carried into Turk's Island; the governor of which picked the schooner Willing Mail, capt. How, of Boston, and sent her to the Cape, with the prisoners to be exchanged.

Great preparations were making at the Cape for a secret expedition, vast quantities of warlike stores had been landed at different times by the French Cape Nicholas-Mole was thought to be the object of the enterprise; at which place it is said there are now 7000 troops.

Gen. Loufaint had invested Fort Bombard, which he expected to reduce. The English had made two attempts to relieve the fort, but had failed in both—the succours being intercepted were made prisoners by the French. From the appearance of things, much blood would be shed this summer in that ill-fated island.

An American brig, with about 70 horses (probably from Norfolk) bound to the Mole, by mistake went to Port de Paix, and was immediately taken possession of by a few citizens. The horses were expected at the Cape, the day the Harriot failed.

The Toulon division, consisting of 7 sail of the line and a number of frigates, were hourly expected to arrive.

A Spanish fleet had arrived at port St. Domingo about ten days before the Harriot left the Cape. It was said, the Medusa and La Renonce frigate were to sail on a cruise in a few days.

The French in general were in high spirits.

TEN DOLLARS REWARD.

RUN away from the subscriber, living in Green county, on the waters of Pittman's creek, the 25th of June last, a likely young Negro fellow, about eighteen years of age, rather tall, has a down look when spoken to, and a scar (on I believe) his right hand occasioned by a burn when he was young, his name is Tom, had on when he went away, a brown linen shirt and overalls, and a felt hat. I have some reason to believe he will make towards Lexington or Bourbon town—Whoever will deliver me the said slave or give me such information that I get him again, shall receive the above reward, besides what the law allows.

STRAYED OR STOLEN.
FROM the subscriber, living in Frankfort on Wednesday night, a black Horse about fourteen hands high, about seven years old, with some saddle spots on his back, one that is nearly in the shape of a y, he is marked from with the years of a wagon, one side of his mane has been trimmed and is a good deal grown out, he is also branded on the near hind foot with the G. R. If he has any other flesh marks I have forgot them, he had on when he went away a belt of 4/6 price, buckled on with a leather strap and also tie. Whoever will deliver the said horse to the subscriber in Frankfort, shall receive five dollars, and if the thief with the horse, ten dollars.
